OHIO ART WINS THE GRAND AWARD AT THE 2008 INTERNATIONAL METAL DECORATORS ASSOCIATION ANNUAL CONVENTION

This year's win marks Ohio Art's fourteenth Metal Decorators Association Award, and third Grand Award in company history

BRYAN, OH, June 2, 2008 - Ohio Art, makers of the world famous Etch A Sketch® drawing toy and one of the premier metal lithography operators in the world, was honored with The Grand Award at the 2008 International Metal Decorators Association Annual Convention for its work on the Devil May Cry SteelBook™. Produced for Glud & Marstrand, the product won the Best in Category award at the event, held on May 21-23 in Bloomingdale, Illinois.

A leader in the metal lithography industry, this marked Ohio Art's fourteenth overall award, and third Grand Award, from the International Metal Decorator's Association, an organization that recognizes world class product decorating. This year, 21 entries in the specialty category were submitted to a panel of judges who then selected the Best of Category and Award of Excellence winners for eight categories including Aerosol, Closures, Food, General Line, Miscellaneous, Signs and Displays, Specialty and Two Piece. The association then selected Ohio Art for the Grand Award for the Best in Competition for the year.

"We are thrilled to have been honored with this prestigious award for the fourteenth time in our company's history," said Larry Killgallon, President & COO, The Ohio Art Company. "This award is a tribute to the quality work that Ohio Art continues to produce as we enter into our company's second century in the business," he adds.

Ohio Art's "Devil May Cry" SteelBook contained both interior and exterior design, prepared by Reece Brothers in Toledo, Ohio. The SteelBook featured six prints on each side and a combination of conventional and UV coatings.
